– PRESS RELEASE–

Munich-based production company founds Finnish subsidiary remote control productions expands into Finland

Munich, August 05, 2015 – remote control productions (rcp) is taking another step towards becoming an international player by founding a subsidiary in Finland through a joint venture with Finnish company "Cursor Oy" and its "Playa Game Industry Hub" initiative, thereby combining their expertise and industry knowledge with Cursor's strong regional network. The two companies have already attended trade shows and conferences together.

"This is a milestone in terms of rcp's globalization and the international distribution of our unique business model", says Hendrik Lesser, founder and CEO of rcp. "Finland's well-developed games industry, its excellent tech know-how combined with the start-up friendly region of Kotka-Hamina offer a perfect environment for us, and with Cursor we found the perfect partner for this."

The new office in Kotka is planned to be opened later this year. The initial phase will see the building of partnerships with gaming startups, where rcp will invest in these studios through their services in product development, marketing, business development, HR and finance. With the help of Cursor, rcp has already established a large network of contacts and potential partner studios.
